

Get Involved - Research Projects

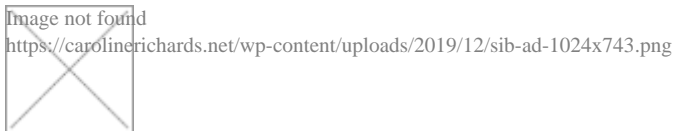

Exciting New Study for Children with Autism

Sleep-Impulsivity-Behaviour (SIB) Study: understanding outcomes in children with autism and intellectual disability

We are inviting children with autism and intellectual disability and their caregivers to take part in our new and exciting project investigating behaviour!

Children will complete several play-based tasks and a parent or caregiver will complete a questionnaire pack and an interview about their child's behaviour. Each family will receive an individualised feedback report detailing the results of their child's assessments.

If you are interested in participating in this study and meet the eligibility criteria below, please contact either Georgie Agar (g.e.agar@bham.ac.uk, 0121 414 7209) or Chloe Brown (c.n.brown@bham.ac.uk, 0121 414 7209).

Go Back